Stock market 'whiz kids'

By Steve Marschke

The River City High School business class of Dennis McIntyre has won a regional stock market contest sponsored by the Sacramento Bee newspaper, achieving better results in a stock market investment simulation than rivals from Chico, Dixon, Sacramento, Folsom and other areas.

The game involved studying the principals of the stock market, analyzing the companies on it, and investing simulated money over a period of a number of weeks. Throwing a "curve ball" into the game was the fact that on Oct. 27, when the game was underway, the stock market crashed wildly, losing seven percent of its overall value (the biggest drop in points, if not in percentage, in the market's history).

The market recovered somewhat following the drop.

"You actually came out ahead when most peole -- most other professionals and most other student teams -- lost money," said Ron Brand, who presented the contest award to McIntyre's class Dec. 16 on behalf of the Bee. "If you come out of this game thinking it's easy to make a thousand dollars over an eight-week period, that would be the wrong lesson," he added.

McIntyre explained the process his class used to decide on its simulated investments.

"A couple of days, we went in and researched on the internet the NASDAQ market," he said. "One of the things (the kids) were doing was picking out low value stocks that had been high, but were down. We separated into groups and the voted and chose their favorite stocks and on trade day we voted and chose for the class."

A total of 67 high schools participated in the contest. Twelve ended with a profit, 48 reported a "loss," and eight didn't report their results -- presumably because they were nothing to be proud of, said Brand.

The first place prize to McIntyre's class was a $100 check for the class and a calculator for each of the individual students.

Hidden camera leads to arrest at home tanning parlor

A home tanning business, a changing booth and a concealed video camera have spelled trouble for a Pecan St. resident, according to the West Sacramento Police Department.

"Robert Flippen, 50, of West Sacramento, was booked at the Yolo County Jail after video taping equipment was located in a mirrored enclosure inside of a makeshift tanning booth Flippen had set up in his garage," according to a press release from Sgt. Dan Ruden. "Flippen would activate a hidden camera and record images of his female customers as they disrobed."

One of the customers discovered the camera after noticing a suspicious spot on one of the mirrors, said the police. She looked closer and saw the lens of a camera inside. She then notified police, who went to the house and located the camera inside a home made cabinet with mirrors mounted on one side.

"The camera was aimed directly at the tanning bed and changing area," Ruden was quoted. "There was a tape inside and it was ready to go."

Detectives also found another mirror on an adjacent wall covering a peep hole from outside the house.

Flippen was charged with disorderly conduct, and if it is discovered that juveniles were videotaped, he may also be charged with a felony, said Ruden.

Anyone who has used the tanning booth at the 800-block of Pecan has been asked to call Detective Dave Duckett or Det. Chris Christensen at 372-2461.

R.C.H.S. competing for honor

By Steve Marschke

West Sacramento's River City High School is in the running for a national "Blue Ribbon School" award.

Several hundred such schools will be honored nationwide, and River City is the only high school from the Sacramento area to be nominated. Statewide, 49 high schools have been forwarded into the Blue Ribbon competition. River City qualified for nomination partly by being named a "California Distinguished School" in 1996.

Principal Donna White said her school may receive a site visit from the selection committee in February, and the final "Blue Ribbon" schools will be named in May.

The school's application for the award stressed improvements on many fronts, she said.

"We've made improvements in everything from attendance, test scores, student attitude and the curriculum," said White. "I really think it's been a team effort. The school board has been very supportive, (superintendent) Dr. Kelleher has been very supportive, and staff has been very dedicated. Staff gives up their time at lunch and after school."

DR. DONNA WHITE, principal, with Vice Principal KEN WHITTEMORE

White said that the award is sought primarily for "pride," and to "say 'yes' to the fact that we are doing good things here."

Dr. White was hired four years ago by then-superintendent David Miller, and joined the top of the R.C.H.S. staff at the same time as vice principal Ken Whittemore.

An effort to clean up, fix up and beautify the campus was an early focus, as was a concentration on reducing truance. The school has reduced unexcused absences by 60 percent.

"If they're here, they can learn," said White.

City decision on street widening and fate of oaks delayed

The West Sacramento planning and engineering departments will slow the process and take another look at current plans to widen 5th St., at the approach to the proposed Lighthouse development in the city's Broderick (northeastern) area.

Plans to widen the street and remove nine large oak trees near 5th St. have drawn criticism from some city residents. The city planned to replace the nine trees -- which include two "heritage" oaks of more than 100 inches in circumference -- with nine young trees to be planted elsewhere in Broderick.

"If people need more time to submit comments on the (plans), that's fine," said Terry Roberts, a planner with the West Sacramento Community Development Department. "The city council action to approve plans and specifications for the 5th St. widening was scheduled to occur at the Jan. 7 council meeting, but that's not going to happen. The item will be postponed awhile so staff can look at other options."

A new date for the city council to review the 5th St. widening project has not yet been set, and the city may hold a public workshop on the project before the council takes action, added Roberts.

Meanwhile, the city has engaged a professional arborist to examine the trees and return a report this week. And city engineers are "re-looking at the traffic data to confirm whether four lanes is absolutely necessary" for the approach to Lighthouse, said Roberts.

Red lights on bus mean you must now stop and wait

Don't ignore those flashing red lights on the back of your local school bus: the rules just changed, and failing to stop when required could cost you an expensive fine.

Beginning Jan. 1, bus drivers statewide are required to put on their red flashers when loading or unloading children, and to escort any children (up to the eighth grade) who need to cross the street after disembarking.

Meanwhile, cars travelling either direction on a road with a bus flashing its lights are required to stop and wait for the bus to finish loading or unloading.

This is the rule "everywhere except on a four lane, divided road such as Park Blvd.," said Phyllis Buchmiller, lead bus driver for the Washington Unified School District. When a road is four lanes and has a physical divider or a solid double yellow line, such as the one on Park, traffic going the opposite direction of the bus may continue despite the flashing lights.

Buchmiller said she met with local police yesterday, who told her they have a plan for enforcing the new state law. The law was enacted to promote students' safety.

"They told us they'd do a lot of warnings (to drivers) for two to three weeks, and then start giving out tickets," said Buchmiller -- who added that the tickets will carry fines of $150 to $250.

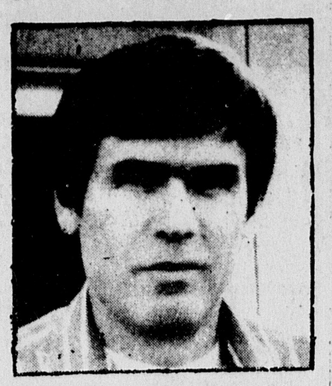
Correction

A News-Ledger article last week mentioned the city of West Sacramento's new "Residential Traffic Calming Program" (RTCP), mistakenly reporting that the city's police department started the program.

The community development department, instead, is the creator of this program. The News-Ledger apologizes for the error.

Just how did West Sacramento get its bad reputation?

My Back Pages



By Daryl Fisher

A couple of weeks ago, my twenty-two year-old daughter and her best friend (I'll call her Amy) decided to go to one of those trendy Christmas parties that most everybody attends this time of year. All they told me before they left was that the party was in Rocklin and that they had heard the place was going to be crawling with really cute guys with good jobs who had lots of money. "Feel free to marry one of them and move out on your own!" I called out to my daughter as she and Amy, both of whom were dressed to impress, hurried out my front door.

Being the concerned (nosy, actually) father I am, I waited up until way past midnight hoping to hear all the juicy details, but unfortunately, I fell asleep in the middle of an old Gary Cooper movie and had to wait until the next day to begin the debriefing. "So," I said to both of them shortly after lunch, "how did the party go? And don't be leaving out all the good stuff just because you think I might have a heart attack or something."

"Well," said my daughter, "to tell you the truth, everything went really well for about the first hour or so."

"Then what happened?" I asked with interest.

"Your daughter went and blew our cover, that's what happened," said Amy.

"Blew your cover?" I asked.

"That's right," said Amy. "Go on, Carrie, tell your dad what you did."

"Well," mumbled Carrie apologetically, "I happened to mention where we were from."

"What?" I asked, still a little confused.

"Well," explained Carrie, "this one guy asked me where I lived, and I went ahead and told him I was from West Sacramento."

"She didn't just tell one person," quickly corrected Amy, "she told a whole group of guys, and each one of them happened to be a babe, too."

"Oh," I said compassionately, having often myself been subjected to that look of horror (actually, I think it's a mixture of pity and revulsion) in the eyes of an otherwise normal person when informed they are talking to a real live West Sacramentan. "Then what happened?" I asked.

"Well," answered my daughter, "let's just say I'm not going to be getting married and moving out of the house any time soon."

"You know," said Amy, "I actually think those poor guys at the party got scared of us when Carrie told them we were from West Sacramento."

"Yeah," said Carrie to me, "and just what is that all about, anyway? I mean, just what exactly did your generation do to make everyone on the other side of the river scared to death of anybody who lives in West Sacramento?"

"My generation?" I asked with as much indignation as I could muster up. "What's my generation got to do with it?"

"I heard you were all a bunch of hoodlums," said Amy matter-of-factly.

"Hey," I said with conviction, "I was not a hoodlum! Now I may have had some hoodlum friends, but except for this one guy who was absolutely determined to be a mafia hit man someday, they were actually all very nice."

"I'm serious," said my daughter, "just how did West Sacramento's big bad reputation get started, anyway? Why are so many people from Sacramento scared to even drive through here?"

"Well," I said, "if you girls really want to know the truth, to my knowledge, it all began with the choice of one's footwear."

"Footwear?" asked my daughter. "You mean shoes?"

"That's right," I tried to explain. "You see, when me and Amy's father were growing up in West Sacramento in the 1950's and 1960's, there were only two kinds of people -- those who wore hard shoes -- the `hards' -- and those who wore tennis shoes -- the `frats'."

"What?" asked Amy, beginning to laugh.

"And almost all of the guys who attended Sacramento high schools back then," I continued, "wore these really ugly tennis shoes. They also wore white socks and pants that looked like they were going to a flood, kinda like they belonged in a fraternity, thus the nickname `frats'. On the other hand, if you were from West Sacramento, you proudly wore shiny black hard shoes, and I'm not talking just any old hard shoes, either. They had to be very, very pointed, and if your toes weren't crying out in agony, then your shoes weren't pointed enough. Anyway, for reasons that I guess no one back then ever really understood, whenever a `hard' ran into a `frat', there was usually a fight. And as you might expect, the guy wearing the hard pointed shoes usually won."

"So," said my daughter, "then you all were a bunch of hoodlums?"

"Absolutely not!" I said. "In fact, most of the so-called hoodlums I knew back then grew up to be fine, upstanding citizens -- like the one who married this great lady who manages a big fancy bank now and makes sure her old West Sac Jack stays out of trouble."

"Hey, wait a minute," said Amy, looking over at Carrie, "my mom manages a big fancy bank."

"Is that right?" I said.

Police log

Dec. 31, 3:30 p.m.

During a prostitution sting effort, an undercover officer in a car was followed by two uniformed officers in another unmarked car. When the undercover officer stopped at West Capitol Ave., the following officers saw a 42-year old female subject on foot rush to the car and enter it. She directed the driver to take her to Riske Lane and agreed to perform a sex act for $20. She attempted to begin the act while driving to Riske Ln., and was arrested when the vehicle stopped.

Jan. 1, 1 p.m.

A 28-year old Sacramento woman was arrested after a female victim said the suspect tried to run over her with a car on Dec. 25, and that the victim was only saved from harm when her boyfriend pushed her out of the car's path. The suspect was also accused of going to the victim's home on Jan. 1 and threatening to beat her up. The suspect was arrested.

Jan. 4, 2:05 a.m.

Officers were dispatched to Arthur Dr. regarding a man violating a restraining order. They saw the suspect, a 27-year old West Sacramento male, walking away from the address. During a search, they located a tin foil package containing a "rock" of a brownish-white substance in his jacket pocket. The substance tested positive for methamphetamine. He was arrested.

Jan. 5, 1:54 a.m.

A resident near Virginia Ave. reported a house on that street was experiencing heavy "in and out" traffic," and drug sales were suspected. An officer visiting the site saw no traffic at the time but forwarded the information to the county's narcotics enforcement task force.

Jan. 5, 8:50 a.m.

A driver reported a three-foot wide, four-foot deep sinkhole in the road near Drever and Soule streets. The city's public works department responded.

Jan. 5, 12:18 a.m.

A West Sacramento man reported the theft of a cell phone valued at $200 from his unlocked vehicle at a gas station about 90 minutes prior.

Jan. 5, 1:46 p.m.

On 15th St., a woman reported that a man came to her door and said he was selling vacuum cleaners. The man became aggresive and tried to push open her door, she said. The man was last seen leaving the address on foot.

Jan. 5, 4:07 p.m.

A woman requiring an interpreter said her children were threatening and harassing her. An officer determined that the children were adults, one of whom had a history of mental problems, and escorted them from her home.

Jan. 5, 4:20 p.m.

A Rich St. man reported that his vehicle had been burglarized and its carbeurator had been removed.

Jan. 5, 8:32 a.m.

A woman reported that a 27-year old man she lived with (and with whom she had a two year old child) had beaten her and dragged her through the residence. The woman was injured. The man was arrested.

Jan. 5, 10:47 p.m.

On Hardy Dr., a vehicle was reported stolen. Officers detained at least two suspects at gunpoint and recovered the vehicle. The car's ignition had been "punched," police reported, but it was still drivable.

River City High School Sports:

Basketball team strong in tourney

By Chuck Robinson

The River City High School varsity basketball team played four games in the Marin Catholic Tournament. The Raiders lost the first game to Pacific Grove, 70 to 39. The leading scorer was Victor Valdivia, 13 points; James Johnson, 6 points; Chris Hasegawa, 5 points; Gary Herren, 5 points; David Godwin, 4 points; Radai Mashriqi, 3 points; Alfredo Rodriguez, 2 points; and Matt Sidhu, 1 point.

R.C. won the second game against Vacaville, 54 to 45. The leading scorer was Valdivia, with 24 points. Malcom Floyd had 10 points; Godwin, 9 points; Hasegawa, 5 points; Herren, Johnson and Rodriguez, 2 points each.

River City lost the third game to Marin Catholic, 61 to 44. The leader was Valdivia, with 15 points. Floyd had 9 points; Godwin, 7 points; Johnson, 5 points; Clancey Dollard, 3 points; Mashriqi, 2 points; Rodriguez, 2 points; and Hasegawa, 1 point.

R.C. won the fourth game against University High School, 39 to 36. Once again, Valdivia led the scoring, this time with 19 points. Floyd had 7 points; Godwin, 3 points; Sidhu, Herren, Johnson, Mashriqi, and Rodriguez, 2 points each.

River City won two and lost two. They did very well as the competition was very big. Pacific Grove had ten players over 6'. Vacaville had 9 players over 6'. Marin Catholic had 12 players from 6' to 6'8". University had ten of 12 players from 6' to 6'7".

River City's next game will be at home against Capital Christian on Jan. 6, and their first league game against Golden Sierra will take place at home on Thurs., Jan. 8. On Tuesday, Jan. 13, the Raiders play at Marysville. Game times are 5:30 and 7 p.m.

The Sports Insider

In last week's News-Ledger, the newspaper inadvertently repeated a prior week's "Sports Insider," so the correct Dec. 31 column did not see print. The editor apologizes for the error, and can vouch that in that Dec. 31 column, columnist Novoa did indeed pick all four of the winners in the week's big football games!

By Richard Novoa

Happy New Year, sports fans!

The NFL playoffs are down to the final week of play, and all the favorites won with the exception of the Kansas City Chiefs. The Chiefs could have and should have won their game, but a fake punt and very bad clock management caused them to choke at home again. This is the second time in three years that the Chiefs were 13-3 and the No. 1 seed and failed to win a playoff game.

Denver won 14-10 and heads to Pittsburgh as the favorite (1 point) for their AFC showdown on Sunday (9:30 a.m.) with the Steelers. In their last meeting a few weeks ago, the Broncos were beating the Steelers 24-3 before quarterback Kordell Stewart engineered a five touchdown come-from-behind performance to beat John Elway and his Broncos. I hate to say it, because I like some of the Steelers' players, but I think it's Denver's year.

Denver in another upset! Denver 31, Pittsburgh 28.

In the NFC battle, the 49ers handled their opponents with no problems as did the Green Bay Packers. The Niners beat up Minnesota 38-22, but the Packers looked a little rusty in their 21-7 win over Tampa Bay. This week, the Packers head west for their Super Bowl confrontation with San Francisco. The oddsmakers have this game as a "pick-em"! Both teams are healthy and the team that makes the least mistakes will win the game. 49ers running back Garrison Hearst returns and may see some action after six weeks on the injured list. Of course, everybody knows I love the Niners, but I still think their No. 1 defense can shut down the league's MVP, Brett Farve.

The winner heads to San Diego for Super Bowl XXXII on Jan. 25, against the AFC champion, Denver or Pittsburgh.

The Kings (13-20) are on a home winning streak as they head west to play Dallas on Thursday and San Antonio on Saturday. Both games will be televised at 5:30 p.m. on Ch. 31. After their short road trip, the Kings will host the Phoenix Suns on Mon., Jan. 12, then on Wednesday the Orlando Magic visit the Arco Arena. Plenty of good seats are available for both games. Call Bass at 923-BASS or stop by the Arco Box Office.

See ya next week!

Don't let 'em fool ya.

HERE IS A PLEASANT LITTLE GAME that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner and check one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

OPINION

News-Ledger Editorial:

Bus safety law: a necessary inconvenience

A new state law has gone into effect which may take some getting used to for local drivers.

From now on it is necessary for cars to stop when they approach a school bus with its lights flashing. The rule applies to traffic going both directions on the same street as the stopped school bus (unless the oncoming traffic happens to be on a four-lane, divided road).

The law is meant to make it safer for any schoolkids who might have to cross the street.

Most West Sacramento motorists have not previously been in the habit of stopping for a school bus to load or unload, and face the prospect of receiving an expensive ticket if they don't learn quickly.

Children do unpredictable things as they rush to or from their school bus, and the new law -- though it will be inconvenient for many a West Sacramento driver -- will make it just a little safer for them on their daily commute to school.

All in all it's a pretty good trade-off to, as CalTrans might say, "give 'em a brake."

West Sacramento city officials have slowed the process of widening 5th St. and removing nine stately old oak trees near it, in response to concern from the city's residents.

This is a helpful response from the city and should allow time for all interested parties to make sure that the street does indeed need to be widened, that the nearby trees truly must be destroyed, and that the appropriate replacement measures for any chopped-down oaks will be undertaken.

There are a number of citizens who are so far not satisfied with the city's first answers to these questions.

Slowing the process to allow further study and more citizens' input helps to restore the public trust and to make sure the city does all it can to follow its own policy of protecting trees like these.

A round of applause, please, for River City High School

By James Repace

The State of California saluted River City High School for its steady improvement during the last four years. River City High School is the only school in the entire Sacramento region nominated for the Blue Ribbon Schools Award. There has been a marked improvement in grades and test scores. Unexcused absences have dropped by more than 60 percent. The enthusiasm and camaraderie at the school are high. The commitment of the staff and teachers there serves as a model for every other school in the State.

Following on the heels of this award was a field trip to Packard Bell/NEC in Sacramento. A group of 48 electronics students -- mostly sophomores -- went on the tour. While we were on the tour, one of the managers at Packard Bell asked me which school the students attended. I told him the students were part of the River City High School Electronics Academy. He smiled and said, "Oh yes, I read about the school in the paper this morning. These students are the ones who got the award. You must be very proud of them, they are all very good students." Well, even though I had absolutely nothing to do with their winning the award, I was very proud of them. We all should be proud of our students here in West Sacramento.

Thanks to the efforts of teachers such as: Donna White (principal), Ken Whittimore (vice principal), Ron Pina, Ira McKee and others, River City High School has a thriving electronics academy. The entire region respects the Academy. The Academy is a splendid example of how to set up a school program. The Academy program gives students training in hi-tech skills. At the same time, it prepares them for a higher education. Students earn college credits by attending the Academy. The fact is the Academy is the only one of its kind in our entire region. Other schools are asking for help in setting up academies such as the one at River City. River City has plans to expand its electronics academy next year. The high school also intends to offer other types of career academies soon.

The West Sacramento Chamber of Commerce is working with the schools to expand these types of programs. The Chamber formed a special committee for this purpose. The name of the committee is SCHOOLS (Special Committee Helping Optimize Our Local Schools). This committee will have a dual purpose. First, it will assist in the expansion and enhancement local school programs. Secondly, the committee will promote the fact that we are the only City in the region with an electronics academy.

What is happening at River City High School is a credit to our community. Principal, Dr. Donna White, the staff and teachers at River City, have done a fantastic job. Superintendent Dr. Dennis Kelleher and the School Board also deserve much of the credit for the award, as does past superintendent Dr. David Miller.

The programs started at River City are already serving as models for other districts. The future of West Sacramento truly is in its youth. River City and our other local schools are diamonds in the rough, waiting for us to polish and display them.

Letters to the Editor

Controversial book has value

I am disappointed to find that so many members of our community are opposed to the content of the novel Ordinary People. After hearing and reading numerous accounts from so many different people condemning the book, I had decided to reevaluate the novel I had read two years ago. My discovery was much different than I had expected. I found that not only did I enjoy the novel more so than I had two years ago, but I also now have a better understanding about the story and its meaning.

Ordinary People is the story of one boy's struggle with life after the death of his brother. He not only copes with the problems that normal adolescent males face everyday, but also battles depression. Granted, some coarse language and sexual comments are used, but without them, I believe the novel would carry a phony tone, and thus would lose its purpose as a piece of literature written to enlighten the younger generations. By rereading this novel, I have not only understood the characters and their purposes, but have been touched in a way that only an excellent piece of literature can touch a reader. I can only hope that those who also read the novel can be affected in the same way I was.

How can a book that has been read and approved by the administrations and English teachers across the country, and has been put on the reading list of several schools throughout California offend people to such a point that they wish to omit it from the school system completely?

Perhaps these people should take a second look at what they are attempting to banish, and for those who have yet to read the novel, take a moment of your time and read it. You have nothing to lose, and by this, you can form your own opinion, rather than relying on those of others. While everyone knows you can't judge a book by its cover, please keep in mind that you also cannot judge a novel by the first 17 pages.

Save the oak trees

Almost two thousand years ago, Cicero claimed, "...we plant trees to benefit another generation." Are we rejecting the gift of our forefathers when we allow the city to cut down nine heritage Oak trees in the name of progress? These healthy living trees were on this planet decades before most of us were born. Some of these giant Oaks have survived an entire century.

Some shortsighted businessmen with a greedy eye to economic development and increased profits could rattle off a list of excuses for destroying these wonderful trees. In rebuttal, more thoughtful community planners could offer a litany of reasons why preserving these large stately trees may actually enhance future development. But I've decided to put all logic aside and appeal to the emotions.

Listen to your heart. Doesn't the thought of chopping down these majestic trees make something deep inside you start to ache? Remember one of the first poems we memorized as children...Joyce Kilmer's:

"I think that I shall never see
A poem lovely as a tree
A tree whose hungry mouth is pressed
Against the earth's sweet flowing breast...
Poems are made by fools like me,
But only God can make a tree."

Only God can make a tree. Perhaps that's why Saint John teaches in the Bible: "...Hurt not the earth, neither the sea, nor the trees..."

Throughout the ages, poets and philosophers have expressed the feelings of the common man. In response to this current threat to our town's trees, perhaps George Morris said it best:

"Woodsman, Spare that tree!
Touch not a single bough!
In youth, it sheltered me,
And I'll protect it now.

Councilmen, spare these trees!

Smoke-free bus stops

Now that 1998 State Law declares, "Smoking in bars in California is illegal" (for a smoke-free area for workers and customers, as has been the law for other places for awhile now), how about smoke-free bus stops for non-smokers?

Little League Sign-ups

West Sacramento Little League will hold registration for ages 5-15 on two Wednesdays, January 7 and 14, at the Fireman's Hall located at 1966 Park Blvd. from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. and on Saturdays, January 10 and 17 at the Memorial Park snack bar from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. Little League tryouts will be conducted at Memorial Park on Saturdays, January 31 and February 7.

Xmas Tree Pick-up

Anyone wishing to have their Christmas tree taken to be recycled, please call Byron Allison at 372-6476, or Greg Oliphint at 371-1176. Trees must be bare and stands removed. A $5 donation would be appreciated. Monies benefit Delta High School's baseball program.

Tax-Aide

The FREE AARP Tax-Aide tax form preparation program for senior middle and low income taxpayers begins Feb. 1. Assistance will be available at the West Sacramento Senior Center, located at 644 Cummins Way, on Wednesdays and Fridays from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. To schedule an appointment time, please call the center at 373-5819.

Art Exhibit

The Turner Library exhibit for the month of January will be the oil paintings created by Gus Vieceli. The paintings are a new means of expression for Mr. Vieceli, who is known for his photography work. He is the popular, former superintendent of Washington Unified School District now retired and living in Placerville. An opportunity to meet the artist will be at the reception given by the Friends of the Library on Jan. 11 from 3 to 5 p.m. The public is encouraged to enjoy the exhibit at that time. The paintings can be viewed any time the library is open. The exhibit room is next to the children's room.

Prieto Fundraiser

You are cordially invited to a community reception/fundraiser for Ed Prieto, candidate for Yolo County Sheriff. An evening of great food and dancing is planned for Friday, Jan. 16, at 5:30 p.m. The event is being held at the Heidrick Ag History Center at 1962 Hayes Lane in Woodland. Tickets are $25.00 and may be purchased by calling Mariko Yamaoa at (530) 759-1589. They may also be purchased at the door.

Potluck-Discussion

The January Potluck-Discussion meeting for the Yolo County Alliance for the Mentally Ill will be held this Wednesday, Jan. 7, from 6:30 to 9 p.m. at the home of Sheilah Johnson, 44015 South El Macero Drive in South Davis. For more information, call 756-2914. This will be an opportunity to ask doctors questions about the new medications for treating biologically-caused mental illnesses. Yolo County Mental Health Consumers, family members, and interested citizens are invited to attend this informative meeting. People with last names beginning with A-H should bring a main dish, I-P a salad, and Q-Z a dessert.

Senior Seminar

Seniors, find out how you can obtain CSUS library privileges, get computer accounts, take classes, get bus and light rail passes, create your own Home Page, and use the P.E. facilities -- all for $3 per semester -- at California State University, Sacramento's Senior Seminar on Thursday, Jan. 22, from 8:30 to 11 a.m. at CSUS' Engineering and Computer Science Building Room # 1015. Registration fee is $2.00 (to cover coffee and donuts). To RSVP, call Sara at 278-6834 before January 15. Reserve your place and get a complimentary parking permit (limited to the first 150 registrants).

Wildlife Event

Wildlife Care Association (WCA) will present "A Love Affair With Wildlife," an afternoon of education and fun for the family, on Sat., Feb. 7, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. at Belle Coolidge Community Center, located at S. Land Park Drive and Seamas Ave. in Sacramento. Learn how WCA raises and rehabilitates animals to release back into the wild. There will be birds, mammals, and reptiles, along with games, prizes and raffles. Admission is $7 adults and $3 for children. WCA is a non-profit, all-volunteer association trained to rehabilitate rescued wildlife working under permit from the California Department of Fish and Game and U.S. Fish and Wildlife. WCA is committed to educating and instruction the community in the respect, appreciation and care of wildlife. Tax-deductible donations are welcome.

LETTERS from p. 5

Patronizing bars seems like a social choice: How absolutely necessary is it to visit a bar?

On the other hand, public transit is much more basic: For most of us who use buses, Light Rail, etc., public transit is the only way to get around since we must avoid driving because: 1) We cannot legally obtain a driver's license due to our medical condition(s); 2) The age factor; 3) Not all can afford a vehicle and insurance; and 4) Often it just makes more sense to ride the bus because of traffic, parking and other conditions.

How? Our sister City of Davis (Yolo County) has an ordinance, "No smoking within 20 feet of bus stops," or words to that effect. Until we have a State law protecting non-smoking bus riders from second-hand tobacco smoke, local ordinance should be enacted to protect non-smokers from second-hand tobacco smoke by mandating that smokers should smoke downwind from non-smokers and no smoking in bus shelters!

We should take this opportunity to relocate more benches to the shade of the hot afternoon summer sun as we relocate benches for the smoke and wind factors. For freedom from second-hand tobacco smoke at bus stops...

Coroner identifies man's body

The Yolo County Sheriff's Department announced this week that the body of an unidentified man found in the Sacramento River south of the Freeport Bridge has been identified as that of Kamphou Yoda Sida, 27, of Sacramento.

Sida had been reported missing last month.

The cause of death is still under investigation.

Interested residents may submit comments on the tree issue or road expansion plans to the city engineering department or to the attention of Roberts at the West Sacramento Community Development Department, 1951 South River Road, West Sacramento, CA 95691.
